

Regional Landcare Facilitator

- Leading natural resource management agency
- Great Lifestyle location

The purpose of the North Central Catchment Management Authority (CMA) is to protect and enhance the integrity of our catchments. Our vision is to become a benchmark organisation by working in partnership with our communities to deliver enduring natural resource management outcomes. We are seeking an enthusiastic and motivated person to undertake a crucial community engagement role.

The purpose of the Regional Landcare Facilitator role is to deliver sustainable agriculture projects and activities under the Australian Government's National Landcare Program (NLP). The role will work across the entire North Central CMA region and focus on supporting and developing the Landcare community, including farmers and land managers to build their skills and knowledge in sustainable farming and land management practices.

The successful candidate will have demonstrated experience in delivering community engagement and development programs together with strong project management skills. A solid understanding of sustainable agriculture practices is essential and applicants with a developed knowledge of Landcare, natural resource management and the associated social and economic factors will be highly regarded.

We are seeking an individual with qualifications in fields such as agriculture, environmental science, natural resource management or the equivalent experience.

This position is offered as a full-time position for an initial 12 month period.
